

Lost Dog Checklist

Don't let your out-of-control emotions prevent you from forgetting something important! Print out this checklist and mark off each suggestion as you complete it. Hopefully your dog will be returned to you safe and sound in no time!

- Put Out Missing Pet Flyers
- Call Animal Control
- Call The Police Station
- Canvass the neighbourhood with friends, flashlights and treats. Flashlights will reflect off a dog's eyes in the dark, so shine those lights under porchs, decks, bushes and inside barrels.
- Have Plenty Of Batteries
- Searching on foot? Bring one of your dog's canine friends with you.
- Leave food and water out in your yard in case she comes home on her own.
- Call The Radio Station
- Take care of YOU too.
- Have somebody, not you, babysit your home phone to take calls while you are out looking.
- Alert Mailmen, meter readers, garbage truck drivers, etc. as they are driving around the neighbourhood.
- Visit shelters daily in person.
- Offer a reward in large letters on the poster.
- Bring a blanket to keep in the car. You won't know what kind of shape your dog will be in when she is located, and a blanket can serve as an emergency stretcher if needed.

- Have a spare collar and leash with you.
- Phone breed Rescue Representative, sometimes rescues are the first to hear of a stray taken in.
- Use a high-pitched whistle. It will carry farther than a voice, and a curious dog may come to investigate the sound.
- Go to your local businesses and shops, especially restaurants. The smell of food may draw out a hungry runaway.

Lostyourpet.net are committed to helping owners find their missing pets.

www.lostyourpet.net